

— Friar Nell —

Ye Yellowe Journalle

APRIL 1, 1569

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

yellowjournal.lol

yellowjournalapp@gmail.com

yjatuva

EXPERIENCING DARK AGES SINCE 1512

ADVICE FROM THE ABBEY

LADY, A HAND?: My Squire Refuses to Hit While I'm Experiencing My Monthly Flewsa

THAT CORNER LOOKS NICE

Now That We've Invented Cuckolding, We Must Create A Place For Them To Sit

GOOD ANSWER!

FAMILY FEUD-ALISM: Hit New Game Show to be Hosted by Lord Stephen Harverforde Fortnightly in the Quad

RELIABLE SORCERER

AQUINAS SAYS: Yes, Science is Real, and Yes, We Can Prove God Exists, and No, I Am Not Being Paid By the Church

HYPOCHONDRIA FOR SURE

Is It Just Me, or Is Everyone Sick Right Now?

CAN'T STOP, WON'T STOP

"I'M HAVING SO MUCH FUN!": Heartbreaking Last Words of a Woman Afflicted by the Dancing Plague of 1518

BITCHING AND MOANING

Local Man's Impressive List of Complaints Nailed to Church Door Frame

CONTENT WARNINGS: FLEAS, PAINTINGS THAT LOOK 3-D, INBRED ROYALS, TORTURE, AND COPERNICUS

MORE OF THE SAME: NEW RESTAURANT "MEDIEVAL TIMES" IS ACTUALLY JUST ANOTHER OLD TAVERN

ON THE COBBLED-STONE BY THE STREAM- Move over, Toric's Tavern! A hot new restaurant has opened on the village's busiest portway. Hopefully, this will draw visitors that won't rob us and burn our houses down. The dinner-and-a-show experience is an exciting ordeal- a break from the monotony of life in these times of ours. Because, let's face it- anything is better than this, right?

Well... the newly-opened establishment, called "Medieval Times" was designed to capture the contemporary moment, and it certainly does just that. In fact, it hits entirely too close to home. The real question, though, is this: why are you trying to do that? If I, as a person living in these times am living in abject squalor with little more than mites to keep me company, why would I want to go to a restaurant that repackages these times and rightly calls them both "mid" and "evil"?! The establishment boasts an accurate depiction of medieval life, but like, OK? It's not particularly impressive. It looks the same as both villages I've seen in my lifetime. Like, yeah, there are wenches, and yes, they serve you ale. Yes, you can buy a massive drumstick. But Toric's has that too-for shillings cheaper! and they don't even serve gruel! What is this, the Great Famine of 1315?

Now, to entertainment. The main draw is the jousting. But get this- the jousting arena looks just like the one we used to have. If anything, it's dingier. The stablehands are obviously focusing on serving guests and, in turn, ignore the Grounds. But that's fine. We're used to filth. The worst part? The jousters themselves aren't real knights, so there isn't even a CHANCE you'll get to see one of the nobles die. Oh, and they don't even kill each other at the end! What's the point?!

Medieval Times could have been something great, but instead it's just more of the same. I want to try something actually novel, for once. Maybe I will travel to other lands to try the rumored "spices" and "opium."

Got Bad Blood?
Struggling with Hysteria?
Accidentally Read the Cavalier Daily?

Try "Doctor" Smith's Leeches!

Bloodletting has proven benefits including, but not limited to:

- Quelled Fears of Death
- Successful Crusades
- Fewer Pimples Caused By Impure Heart
- Improved Creativity for New Torture Methods

Hear Ye, Hear Ye!

A Hanging in the Village Square to Punish the Dishonorable Thomas "The Tramp" of Charlottesville. Following Church at High Noon. Located at Ye Gallows

Although this organization has members who are University of Virginia students and may have University employees associated or engaged in its activities and affairs, the organization is not a part of or an agency of the University. It is a separate and independent organization which is responsible for and manages its own activities and affairs. The University does not direct, supervise or control the organization and is not responsible for the organization's contracts, acts or omissions.